It's a fun take on jigsaw games. The jigsaws usually have a couple of pieces which are animated which adds an interesting twist to the formula. The graphics are nice and the sound track is quite pleasant. Worth the money.. I have found this very relaxing and the add ons have helped. I'm doing some of the puzzles from the workshop which also run well.. Love this game!!!!!!!!!!!!!! :). Truly wonderful game, I absolutely love it!

The animations, the music, the photos, it's relaxing, fun, challenging.. A perfect combination of everything! Played for several hours on my PC and no bugs or anything weird so far. I would recommend this game in a heartbeat!. From Spilsbury to Ravensburger, I used to do a lot of jigsaw puzzles. Heck, I've got a 15,000 piece puzzle sitting here in a box right now. It will stay there though, as these days, my vision and my cats would both make putting that together well nigh impossible. Perhaps I'll never get to do another jigsaw puzzle again.

What's that you say? Animated Puzzles is a jigsaw puzzle game that lets you choose the number of pieces in the puzzles, and also allows you to pan and zoom as you assemble it? Well sign me up!

Actually, I already did get the game, but I guess you knew that since I'm, you know, writing about it now. Despite having lost the dramatic tension, I'll press on to elucidate the salient points without sesquipedalian obfuscation. Oops, \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665ed that up already. Anyway.

Animated puzzles offers pretty much everything I would hope for in a jigsaw game. As I mentioned, the pan and zoom ability does a lot to make the game easier on the eyes, and while the selection of pictures in the game is a bit slim, Steam workshop support ensures that you can just keep adding pictures of your choice. Heck, upload an old wedding photo and as you assemble it you can pretend that you are putting back together a failed relationship. The possibilities are endless!

Also worth noting is the animation, since that's what the game is called. The animations in the puzzles are pretty low key. Things like clouds passing by, or dandelion seeds floating around. It adds a nice touch without causing performance issues.

Finally, if you want a more challenging experience, you can choose different shapes for the pieces, do the daily challenges, or even go for the leaderboards in time attack. Honestly, this game is so accommodating to however you might like to play, that as long as you actually want to do jigsaw puzzles in the first place, you can be happy with Animated Puzzles.. Pros: No penguins
Cons: Haven't played it long enough .. maybe the penguins are there :(

I would recommend this game in a heartbeat!. I love this game! Not only can you do challenges on your own, you can also play with your friends or random people on steam. The best part is you can make your own puzzles so it's never ending fun. Everyone should own this imho lol :). I love this game! It is very fun, relaxing and overall I give it two big thumbs up! I did a "Let's Play" on my channel: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OePMnFQzmrM>

Thank You,

Matthew

KrazyCries. Hmm... good game in all, but it should have have the ability to store workshop puzzle so i can play them offline... Other than that good game.
